

Admission

CV and letter of motivation

Admission is granted on the basis of the past education (Master degree or equivalent) and/or experience in the field. Candidates should send back a CV and a letter of motivation before October 30, 2017.

CERTIFICATION

A certificate will be delivered by NOHA

Lecturers

- Members of the NOHA faculty
- ECHO
- The ICRC and major INGOs
- OCHA

Fees

The participation fees amount to 350 euros/person. Daily lunch and working material are included. Free-of-charge positions are available for ECHO staff members.

Registration

First name : Name :

Organization :

Position :

Nationality :

Email :

Phone number : Mobile :

- I will attend the NOHA Fall School
- I pay 350 euros after my application is selected.
Bank account : Axa n° 7512.0714.3742
IBAN: BE77 7512.0714.3742
(with Fall School 2015 + name)

Please send the requested information, a CV and a letter of motivation before October 30, 2017 :

by email : catherine.gourbin@uclouvain.be or back to :

Prof. Catherine Gourbin
NOHA / Université catholique de Louvain
LSSH/IACS/DEMO

Place Montesquieu 1, bte L2.08.03
1348 Louvain-la-Neuve - Belgium

or apply through the NOHA website : www.nohanet.org/apply

NOHA

2017 Fall School in Humanitarian Action (HA)

Humanitarian Action today has to take into account political, cultural, legal and health dimensions. For the ninth time the NOHA (Network on Humanitarian Action) Fall School will be conducted by university staff and field actors in order to provide professionals with a global approach and specific tools.

Objective

The Fall School aims at training professionals dealing with projects in HA in order to give them a critical overview of HA in a multidisciplinary perspective and the relevant information for evaluation of projects. New challenges in HA will also be examined.

Target audience

Civil servants, staff from local, international and civil society organizations, and more generally those who are involved in HA and feel the need to upgrade their basic knowledge and skills.

Organizing Committee

Catholic University of Louvain (UCL)

This ninth NOHA Fall School is run by the European Network on Humanitarian Action (NOHA) and the day-to-day management is supervised by Prof. Catherine Gourbin, national NOHA director at the Catholic University of Louvain (UCL) in Belgium.

Marketing

The programme will be marketed among relevant stakeholders via the NOHA directors, ECHO, Ministries of Foreign Affairs, INGOs, international Federations of NGOs.

Content

1) Humanitarian action

- History and basic principles
- Main actors

2) Humanitarian action - related disciplines

- International relations and humanitarian action
- International humanitarian law
- Health in emergency situations
- Anthropology and HA
- Management of HA

3) Contemporary issues

- Peacekeeping and integrated operations
- Protection
- Sphere standards
- Mediation

4) Funding

NOHA

www.nohanet.org

NOHA is an International Association of Universities that aims to enhance professionalism in the Humanitarian sector by promoting humanitarian values through higher education accredited courses, and by fostering a humanitarian research ethos that encourages innovation in humanitarian policy and practice. NOHA full members are Aix-Marseille Université, Universidad de Deusto, Ruhr-Universität Bochum, University College Dublin, Rijksuniversiteit Groningen, Université catholique de Louvain, Uppsala Universitet, Warsaw University, Vilnius University, University of Copenhagen, University of Malta, and University of Pavia. Since it was created in 1993, more than 3,000 graduates have followed the Joint Master in International Humanitarian Action. NOHA counts on the cooperation and support of the EU through the DG Humanitarian Aid & Civil Protection (ECHO) and the DG for Education and Culture. The initiative was a response to a growing need for higher educational qualifications specifically suited to addressing complex humanitarian emergencies. In 2005, NOHA was awarded by the European Commission Erasmus Mundus Partnerships Programme in order to establish and develop a framework for cooperation and student and scholar mobility between NOHA and 8 partner universities worldwide. More than two decades of experience has proved the NOHA commitment and capacity to educate and train highly committed, interdisciplinary persons who can act at all levels of humanitarian relief operations and who can function in a variety of ways to enhance the delivery of humanitarian assistance and sustainable actions.

DURATION AND TIME PERIOD

From 13 to 17 November (included) 2017

LANGUAGE OF TRAINING : English

VENUE : Club- Fondation Universitaire Stichting
rue d'Egmontstraat 11, B-1000 Brussels

